

The Department of Translation Studies and Intercultural Communication is pleased to invite you to guest workshops and a lecture by

DR KAREN SEAGO

City University London

| | |
|--|---|
| Wednesday 29 April 11.20-12.20 Room 3.4 | Lecture: Theorising profeminist translation practice 1 year MA (Translation Programme, instead of Translation Theory lecture), 5 year MA (Translation seminar), doctoral students BA Translation Programme students and students of other programmes |
| Thursday 30 April 9.30-12.00 Room 3.6 | Workshop: Translating Children's Literature 1 year MA (Literary Translation Track), 3 year BA (Literary Translation Seminar), 5 year MA (Translation Seminar), doctoral students Other students: if you also want to attend the workshop, please contact L.Biel as we have a limited number of places (anglb@univ.gda.pl). |
| Wednesday 29.04, 10-11 a.m. Thursday 30.04, 1-2 p.m. | Study opportunities in the UK/Translation for the Professions followed by a Q&A session and practical advice on studying in the UK Open to all the students wishing to attend |

University London.

Dr Karen Seago is Programme Director of UK's first MA in Translation for the Professions (MA in Legal Translation and MA in Audiovisual Translation) at City University London. She sits on the editorial board of the Journal of Specialised Translation and on the executive committee of the British Comparative Literature Association. Dr Seago was also Director of the Centre for Transcultural Research at London Metropolitan University. She researches into translation and cultural history, comparative literary studies, fairy tale studies and gender. She teaches theory and practice of translation in the BA and MA Applied Translation Programmes at City

www.translatoryka.fil.ug.gda.pl/en